Death threats made to UKIP candidate

Jack Sen – UKIP candidate in West Lancs

THE United Kingdom Independence Party candidate for West Lancashire in the General Election on May 7 pulled out of a planned appearance at a Question Time–style event last night (Tuesday, April 14) after receiving a number of death threats.

Jack Sen had been due to appear at the event in Ormskirk Civic Hall alongside the four other candidates contesting the seat but opted to pull out after being "stunned to the core" by the threats contained in a series of letters to organisations including the Champion who passed them on to police.

SON SLAMS COUNTY COUNCIL IN ROW OVER MUM'S FALL

Report by Henry James

A MAN whose pensioner mother suffered appalling facial injuries after tripping over a paving stone in Skelmersdale has accused Lancashire County Council of dodging their responsibility by refusing to accept liability for the accident.

David Jenkins has been seeking compensation from the authority since 75–year–old Lillian fell over a raised pavement in an area between her home in Carfield and neighbouring Brierfield.

The fall, last June, left her with severe cuts and bruising to her face and knees and she had to spend two–and–a–half days at Southport Hospital receiving treatment.

David was shocked by the extent of his mum's injuries and decided to seek compensation from the county council, claiming the paving was raised more than the permitted 25mm and taking photographs to support his claim.

Now though, after 10 months waiting for an answer he has received a letter from the county council rejecting the claim and denying liability.

The council say they are not accepting blame as they don't accept that the flagstones were raised by at least 25mm.

David said: "My mother ended up damaging her knee and face after the fall which was entirely due to a flagstone sticking up. She spent two–and–a–half days in Southport Hospital due to the injuries and even now, after all this time, she has to see the doctor about her knee as she suffers with it all the time.

"We decided to make a claim against the council because of this and it's been going on since last year. I just find it disgusting that the council say that it was my mother's fault and not theirs.

"We got a letter to say that under no circumstances does the council take any blame for what happened.

"They say that the flagstone must be raised in the air by at least 25mm but I have taken a picture which clearly shows that the flag is more than 25mm in the air.

"Also, if the council are saying it is not their fault, why, two weeks after we contacted them via our solicitors, did they come out and repair the flag?

"They say that on July 9 the flag was not more than 21mm in the air but that's because it was repaired two weeks after the accident.

"They are just trying to get away with liability."

A spokesman for Lancashire County Council told the Champion: "Maintaining our roads in a safe condition is a priority for the county council and we carry out our own inspections and take appropriate action to repair any damage reported by members of the public.

"We cannot comment on individual legal claims. However, the courts recognise that councils can defend against legal claims where they are able to demonstrate a regular regime of inspection and intervene to repair pavement defects which are larger than 25mm."

Edge Hill numeracy and literacy scheme helps 100,000 and counting...

AN Edge Hill University scheme to help primary schoolchildren improve their literacy and numeracy has been rolled out to more than 100,000 children across the UK and beyond.

Every Child Counts is a range of interventions developed by academics at the Ormskirk university, providing professional development, training and resources for school leaders, teachers and teaching assistants to help them to help children who find it hard to read, write and do mathematics.

And now, even more children are set to benefit with two more interventions added to the scheme's already impressive roster.

The latest initiative, Talk 4 Number is being rolled out to schools from this month with the aim of helping children talk confidently about maths.

Aimed mainly at pupils in Year 3 and Year 4 (aged seven to nine), the intervention allows children in small groups to use and understand mathematical language and talk fluently about these methods.

Nick Dowrick, the Every Child Counts director at Edge Hill University, said: "Being able to read, write and do mathematics properly can transform children's lives and futures. We'd like to thank all the teachers and teaching assistants who have worked so hard to use our interventions to make a difference for 100,000 children.

"Our Every Child Counts team at Edge Hill is continuing to develop and test more interventions so that we can help schools to help the next 100,000 children across the country to develop the skills to set them up for success."

Every Child Counts is run by Edge Hill on a not–for profit basis and was set up with support from the Department for Education. The scheme no longer receives government funding and is now funded directly by the schools and local authorities it works with.

The scheme has rolled out to Scotland, Wales and the Channel Islands and has recently been implemented in Dubai.

Election candidate receives death threats

Letters sent to Champion offices in Southport

Report by Danielle Thompson

A CANDIDATE standing in the General Election next month for West Lancashire says he has been "stunned to the core" by death threats made against him.

The threats were made to United Kingdom Independence Party (UKIP) candidate Jack Sen in a series of letters to organisations including the Champion who passed them on to the police.

Mr Sen described the threats as a "co–ordinated act of terror against him" and says he has had to change the way he campaigns.

The threats were sent to the Champion's office in Southport in two letters addressed to the editor and a Champion reporter.

In the handwritten letters, which had a Warrington postmark, specific threats were made againstr Mr Sen, who is one of five candidates contesting the West Lancs seat in the election on May 7.

The threats were sinister enough for the Champion to pass them on to Merseyside Police who immmediately launched a full investigation.

The Champion understands similar death threats against Mr Sen were also sent to the organisers of a Question Time event that was due to take pace in Ormskirk Civic Hall last night (Tuesday, April 14).

The UKIP candidate and his four rivals for the seat were invited by the Ormskirk Community Partnership and Ormskirk and District Churches Together group to debate election issues. Following the threats Mr Sen opted to pull out of the event.

Signed 'A. I. Standing Up to UKIP', the letters contained a string of expletives against Mr Sen and the hustings organisers.

The letters were headed 'final warning' and went on to make specific threats against Mr Sen and the hustings groups.

A shaken Mr Sen told the Champion that UKIP officials had banned him from attending the hustings as party policy is that candidate safety is prioritised when death threats are made.

He said: "I won't go out after dark in Ormskirk until this is sorted. I'd have to be a buffoon to.

"I thought a lot about whether or not I should attend the hustings, and feel, based on the advice I have been given – as well as my wife's wishes – that it's best to wait until the investigation has been undertaken or the event is rescheduled.

"I have my safety, my family's and the community's to consider.

Testing

"Although the people that have threatened me might just be cranks simply trying to silence me, there's a chance they are serious, and there is in fact a genuine threat to my safety.

"If anyone were to get hurt because I attended the event I would not be able to live with myself."

The chairman of Ormskirk Community Partnership, Martin Walsh, said: "It would be a sad day for democracy if candidates felt unsafe to address the voters in their constituency. We are taking the threats seriously and we will act in accordance with advice received from the police."

A spokesman for Lancashire Constabulary, which took over the invesigation from their Merseyside colleagues, confirmed that all of the letters had been sent for forensic testing.

He said: "We are working closely with the UKIP candidate to find out who could be targeting him and ensured an additional police presence at the hustings."

£5,000 reward offered in bid to track down thugs who attacked 91–year–old veteran

Report by Henry James

A £5,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of thugs who targeted a 91–year–old war veteran in an attempted robbery in broad daylight.

The attack took place on Wednesday, March 4 as the victim was locking up a garage on Evenwood, Skelmersdale between 2.45 and 3.15pm.

The assailants approached the pensioner from behind and one of them forcibly restrained him while the other searched through his pockets.

One of the men then forced him to the floor using his head and rubbed his face into the gravel.

The pair fled the scene empty–handed leaving the man on the floor with wounds to his head, leg and wrist.

Both men are described as white, of stocky build, with short dark hair and a 'scruffy' appearance and spoke with Liverpool accents.

One was over 6ft tall and wearing a grey jumper, the other was between 5ft 6in and 5ft 8in.

The reward is being offered by the Crimestoppers charity for information received via the anonymous 0800 555 111 telephone number or through the anonymous online form at www.crimestoppers–uk.org and leading to the arrest and conviction of the men responsible.

Gary Murray, Crimestoppers' North West regional manager, said: "This awful attack has left an elderly man with nasty wounds. We urge anyone who may know these men, or who may have seen something on that day to call Crimestoppers anonymously.

"We will never ask for any of your details and, significantly, you'll never have to give a statement to police or go to court. So please, do the right thing, call 0800 555 111 and tell us what you know."

The full reward will only be payable if information is passed to Crimestoppers directly via the phone line or online form. Information passed to the police will not qualify for the full amount.

Elizabeth's sister act

A WOMAN whose sister is battling cancer is lacing up her trainers to take part in a fundraising event for Cancer Research UK.

And Elizabeth Horridge from Skelmersdale is hoping other local women and girls will join her as she aims to complete the charity's Race for Life this summer.

The 27–year–old will be taking part in the event in support of her sister Amy, 29, who was diagnosed with Hodgkin's Lymphoma in December.

Amy is currently undergoing chemotherapy treatment but will be at Moor Park, Preston on Sunday, May 24 to cheer on her sister in the 5k event.

Elizabeth, who works in public relations, has previously taken part in two Race for Life events in Sherdley Park, St Helens in 2005 and at Aintree racecourse in Liverpool in 2006.

She said: "Taking part in Race for Life is my way of hitting cancer where it hurts. My New Year resolution this year was to raise £1,000 for Cancer Research and I've raised £670 so far by giving up alcohol in January."

Tragedy sparks online campaign calling for quarry to be filled in

Report by Danielle Thompson

East Quarry in Appley Bridge

A CAMPAIGN has been launched to fill in a quarry in West Lancashire following the death of a teenage boy.

More than 4,000 people have signed an online petition calling for the closure of the East Quarry in Appley Bridge after promising rugby player Miracle Godson drowned while swimming with friends there on Friday (April 10).

The alarm was raised when the 13–year–old from Wigan disappeared in the water at around 3pm.

Emergency servces were alerted but after a frantic search his body was recovered by police divers at around 5pm.

Although it is on private land, the quarry attracts young people from across Lancashire – including many from Skelmersdale – keen to swim there, particularly during spells of warmer weather – despite repeated warning about the dangers of open–water swimming.

Video–sharing website YouTube features clips of young thrill–seekers hurling themselves in to the East Quarry, as well as Hilldale Quarry in neighbouring Parbold.

Miracle's death isn't the first tragedy at the quarry. In 2000 17–year–old Craig Croston from Platt Bridge also died at the site after falling in.

And there have been other incidents at quarries in the borough which are a magnet for young swimmers in the summer.

In 2010, 31–year–old Cameron McInnes died at the privately–owned Hilldale Quarry after the rope swing he was using snapped sending him plunging into the the water.

Sam Fowler, 14, from Norris Green, Liverpool, also died at Hilldale Quarry after going swimming there in 1999.

The online petition was set up by 23–year–old Natalie Prescott after she learned of Miracle Godson's tragic death.

The mum–of–one suffered life–changing injuries two years ago when she jumped from the cliff at East Quarry and was lucky to survive after hitting the rocks.

Natalie crushed her left ankle in the fall while her right knee was so badly injured that initially she feared the leg would have to be amputated from the knee down. She now has metal plating in her ankle and an artificial knee joint.

She set up the petition at website change.org calling on the council and the owners of the quarry to fill it in.

She wrote: "Every year someone gets hurt, only this year a boy lost his life. Two years ago I nearly lost mine along with my legs. Now, we are never going to stop people going unless we fill it in. They come from all over to jump."

Outline plans for a mixed–use scheme on land and water at the East Quarry site, including residential apartments, family homes, a new community centre, restaurant, hotel and commuter parking, submitted by Steven Abbott Associates on behalf of Mainsprint Limited have been granted by West Lancs Council.

If these plans were implemented, the quarry would not be filled in but instead the homes would 'float' on the water.

Christie McDonald from Steven Abbott Associates said: "The floating elements of the scheme are a highly innovative method of utilising the existing features of the quarry and thus avoiding the need to infill the site, something which the local residents had voiced their concerns about and we were therefore keen to avoid."

Meanwhile, Lancashire Fire and Rescue launched their latest initiative, 'Dying for a Dip' this week to raise awareness of the dangers of swimming in open water as part of their water safety campaign work.

A spokesman for the service said: "400 people in the UK die every year from drowning and it is the third most common cause of death amongst young people aged between 10 and 18. These casualties are also more likely to be male.

"Dying for a Dip aims to target teens and young adults and is currently being delivered in secondary schools with the potential to target community and youth groups in the future. It is hoped that by warning young people of the dangers of swimming in open water we can prevent further tragedies in future.

"The package contains information covering various elements such as the effects of cold water on the body, the hidden dangers of water 'tomb–stoning' and what to do if you see someone struggling."

Floral tributes to air crash victims laid at Skem pharmacy

FLORAL tributes have been laid to the wife and child of a Skelmersdale worker who were among the victims in the Germanwings air disaster.

Pawel Pracz, who works at the Rowlands Pharmacy in Sandy Lane, lost wife, Marina Bandres Lopez–Belio and his seven–year–old son, Julian in the tragedy which claimed the lives of all 150 on board when the Airbus 320 en route from Barcelona to Dusseldorf in Germany, crashed into the French Alps.

Since the tragedy last month local residents and employees at businesses in the town have been laying floral tributes at the pharmacy.

Marina, 37, who was an editor and colourist, had gone to Spain to attend the funeral of her uncle and was on her way back to the family home in Manchester.

Dwayne packs a punch to claim regional title

A GLENBURN Sports College student who only took up boxing to get fit is now really packing a punch after being crowned Merseyside and Cheshire ABA Champion!

Fourteen–year–old Dwayne Aldridge only started boxing three years ago when his parents took him to Knowsley Vale ABC.

Originally he only went along to help him keep fit and give him a hobby – but he enjoyed it so much that he soon became a dedicated devotee of the sport.

Following his regional title success he said: "I started going to the boxing club when I was 11 years old and enjoyed it so much that I carried on going.

"Originally I only went because mum and dad wanted me to have something to do rather than just hang around and also to get me fit.

"Now I train three days a week for about two hours each session and I really enjoy the sport so it's worth the effort."

And that hard work paid off when competing in the 63kg division at the Merseyside and Cheshire ABAs Dwayne had to go the full three, two–minute rounds before claiming the title by unanimous decision.

"My dad came to support me and two of my trainers, Mark Mulvey and John Tyler. Dad was made up when I won but mum doesn't attend because she screams and shouts – although when the bell goes you just block out the noise."

Dwayne was presented with his winner's award by John Hallam, secretary of the Amateur Boxing Association.

A spokeswoman at Glenburn Sports College commented: "On behalf of all Glenburn staff and students, well done Dwayne. We are all proud of you."

Trading Standards say don't be taken in by products that will only trim your wallet not your waistline

Report by Henry James

COUNTY council watchdogs are warning residents not to be taken in by products that make unfounded claims about improving their health.

Rachel Wilcock, from Lancashire County Council's Trading Standards Service, said: "Health claims on pre–packed foods and supplements, particularly those sold on the Internet, sometimes make bogus boasts about how they will improve certain aspects of people's health.

"Dishonest claims include products promising to help people to lose weight and to improve muscle growth, mood and virility. Often these claims have no basis in science and are completely unauthorised.

"We want to educate consumers to be more aware about the things they are buying on the Internet, and to not get taken in by the hype. These products often cost a lot of money, and some even more unscrupulous traders lock people into contracts for repeat orders and even take money out of customers' accounts without authorisation."

Trading Standards' top advice is simply to think twice about what you are buying.

Rachel added: "Nothing is as effective at helping you lose weight as doing more and eating less. Nothing is more effective in building muscle as weight–bearing exercise. There are no magic pills that can be taken to provide a complete shortcut – certainly not ones that are made from herbs and other non–medicinal chemicals."

The service offered the following simple steps for consumers to protect themselves:

• Check to see if a claim has been verified by the European Union at http://ec.europa.eu/nuhclaims/ where you can search the database for the ingredient or chemical that the claim is made about. All approved and non–approved claims will be displayed.

• If you do choose to buy these types of products, buy from UK suppliers, where you will be protected by UK consumer protection legislation and may have more chance of getting redress if you are unhappy, rather than buying from abroad.

• Read the terms and conditions of sale before you buy to make sure you aren't locking yourself into a repeat purchase contract where they take money off your card or from your bank on a regular basis.

• Never give your bank account or card details to anyone unless you know who they are, how much will be taken from your account and exactly what you are buying.

Rachel said: "There have been reports nationally and internationally that some 'fat burners' are actually killing people as they speed up metabolism so much that those who take them can overheat and die.

"The most common phrase used which isn't authorised is 'detox' or 'cleanse'. Neither of these phrases are currently authorised to be used on foods or food supplements. This means that there hasn't been enough scientific evidence submitted to the European Food Standards Agency to convince them that any products do actually detoxify or cleanse the body.

"We've also received complaints where consumers thought they were paying a nominal amount in postage fees or one–off payments for goods and later find that they are tied into making a continuing payment to the company for a subscription account."

Council submits plans for new kids play area at Beacon Park

An artist's impression of the proposed new children's play area at Beacon Country Park

Report by Henry James

WEST Lancs Council has submitted plans for a new children's play area at Beacon Country Park in Dalton.

The proposed play area has been designed for the use of older children (aged 13 yearsnd over and would cover an area of 1,700 square metres.

Among the features to be included would be an admiral's lookout multi climbing structure, a climbing and slide structure, a freerider balance swing, a rope end swinger lateral multi swing, a cable runway and a large basket swing.

The play area would be located on grassland adjacent to the Beacon Park Visitor Centre and by an existing younger children's play area.

Police have carried out a security and crime analysis at the location and they say that inthe 12 months period from April 2014 to April 2015, there was criminal damage to buildings. They add that the public have reported youths riding scrambler bikes "erratically" in the area.

The police say that the playground should be well lit, fenced and covered by CCTV.

Council officers have also carried out a landscape impact of the proposal and write: "The area for the location of the new play area is a designated amenity/recreational area within Beacon Country Park.

"Play and picnic facilities have been present on this area for over 20 years and the area has a close affinity to the Beacon Park Visitor Centre and Ranger Station, which provide refreshment, event and information facilities to the public

"Whilst Beacon Country Park is a greenspace located within the green belt, the development is in keeping with the present and historical use of the area around the visitor centre and is accepted as a predominantly recreational area."

The items of play equipment to be installed are for older children and are bigger than the equipment already on site. But the council has carried out a visual impact and write: "Although the tallest piece of equipment is over five metres tall its visual impact on the surrounding area is limited by its location and the nature of environment around it. The area chosen for the equipment is on a slope running from east to west down towards the visitor centre.

"The location and views means that at the main access points to the site the equipment will not protrude above the horizon and will blend into the background environment, so limiting the visual impact of the development.

"The play area will not be visible from outside the boundary of the country park. The majority of the play equipment is also of timber construction which is suited to its park environment."

The landscape and visual impact of the proposed development is described as "minor."

Residents have until Wednesday, April 29 to have their say on the proposal before a decision is made by the planning committee.

Last chance to sign up for Swimathon

TODAY (Wednesday, April 15) is the last chance to sign up for Swimathon 2015 to raise money for Marie Curie Cancer Care.

Sarah Fletcher a community fundraiser at Marie Curie said: "There's still time to sign up and take on a Swimathon challenge in Skelmersdale with some places still available. You'll be swimming for an amazing cause and participating in an event you'll never forget.

"All you need to do is visit the Swimathon website and enter your postcode and find your nearest pool, it's that simple."

Swimmers can enter as a team for the 1.5k or 5k swim, or as an individual for the 1.5k, 2.5k or 5k challenges.

Duncan Goodhew, MBE, Olympic gold medalist, said: "Trying to get the kids out of the house and into something active can be a hard task but with events like Swimathon it really does help to encourage people to get out and exercise by having a goal to work towards and also to be a part of such a wonderful event."

More than 600 pools nationwide are hosting a Swimathon session, including the Nye Bevan Pool in Skelmersdale.

You can enter at Swimathon.org or call 0845 36 700 36.

Grant boost for young music makers

YOUNG music makers in Skelmersdale will benefit from a six figure grant awarded to a community music and education charity.

Morecambe–based More Music has been awarded more than £150,000 this year by the National Foundation for Youth Music with with further grants of up to £307,000 being made available over the following two years.

More Music is one of 13 organisations around the country selected to become a strategic partner of Youth Music and over the next three years will work towards the national charity's aim of creating a musically–inclusive England where every child can access music–making opportunities, regardless of circumstances.

Projects will take place in Skelmersdale – as well as Brierfield, Blackburn, Preston and Fleetwood – where young people will be encouraged to make new music 'in the way that they want to do it', as well as having the opportunity to perform and record in community venues and libraries.

Many of the young people Youth Music supports face significant challenges in their lives. These may arise from economic issues, from disability or lifelong health conditions, mental health or behavioural issues and from other life circumstances including living in rural isolation, being a young carer or refugee.

This new funding from Youth Music will aim to bring new opportunities for young people in the most challenged communities of Lancashire to engage in music–making that transforms their lives and connects them to the wider community.

Matt Griffiths, chief executive officer, Youth Music said: "We're really delighted to be working with More Music as one of our strategic partners to deliver an exciting programme of music–making opportunities for children and young people in the North West.

"These three–year grants will really help to develop and sustain music–making locally, taking our investment in the region to £954,000 in this funding round."

Church fundraisers celebrate first stage of repairs project

Report by Danielle Thompson

FUNDRAISERS are celebrating after completing the first stage of a challenging three–part programme of repairs on a historic church.

A survey last year revealed extensive damage to the Grade II listed St Anne's Church in Prescot Road, Ormskirk, caused by water pouring in through a leak in the roof of the 164–year–old building.

Because of the church's age and listed status it was revealed that renovation work would have to be carried out to exacting – and costly – specifications.

After the plight of the church was featured in the Champion in March 2014 a fundraising committee was formed and the St Anne's Church Roof Appeal was officially launched, charged with the daunting task of raising the £500,000 needed.

Now the first stage of the repairs – 'first aid' – has been achieved at a cost of £50,000, making the church weather–proof and addressing immediate issues.

In September last year Father Boniface Moran and Deacon Phil McDermott unveiled a thermometer–style gauge outside the church enabling members of the public to keep track of how the fundraising appeal was progressing.

Children from the congregation were invited to colour in the fundraising marker in December to signify the appeal reaching that initial £50,000 target.

Led by parish priest, Father Godric Timney the fundraising committee appeal outlined a three–stage plan for the repair work.

The second, 'renewal' phase will address roof coverings and supporting structures.

And the third, 'care and maintenance' phase, will cover techniques for ensuring the roof remains in good order.

Father Timney said: "I am delighted that the 'first aid' phase is complete – it means we can celebrate Mass without worrying about the weather outside!"

And appeal chairman, Phil Wilkinson, told the Champion: "The first phase has stopped the majority of the water coming in and allowed us to reach parts of the building that we were unable to assess.

"Champion readers may recall the picture a year ago with the Father Timney surrounded by buckets to catch the leaking water. Completing the first phase of repairs mean that we have no further need for the buckets and mops in church – so our dedicated team of flower–arrangers can have their flower buckets back!

Father Godric Timney can now return their buckets to the church flower arrangers after the first phase of repairs to the church were completed Code1079500

"The fund total is now at £65,000 which is great progress in less than a year. However, the 'first aid' phase is just a temporary fix – we've still got a long way to go to raise the rest of the £500,000 target to restore the whole of our historical church to its best condition.

"We have a couple of great fundraising events coming up. On Friday (April 17) we have two local bands performing at the pastoral centre. The Undecided are a fantastic group of musicians who work at the local hospital and The Rafters include some of our parishioners.

"And for those interested in gardening we have a question–and–answer evening, 'How Does Your Garden Grow' with local experts on Friday, May 15."

Tickets for each event cost £5, which includes a glass of wine at the gardening advice session. For more details or to help with fundraising email stanneschurchroofappeal@gmail.com.

Duo's diamond day!

Sporty couple are still the perfect match after 60 years of wedded bliss

Report by Henry James

THE attraction was instant when Doug Appleton first set eyes on his wife Betty – despite her dirty knees!

And the couple are still a perfect match, 60 years after tieing the knot.

Doug, 89, and his 81–year–old 'other half' celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary with a party at Stocks Hall Care Home in Skelmersdale where Betty has been a resident for more than four years.

The pair, both retired teachers, first met in Keswick where Doug had been playing rugby for St Helens RU club and Betty had been playing hockey for the local teacher training college, St Katherine's.

As they made their way off the field at the end of their respective games, Doug spotted Betty and told his best friend: "I"m going to marry that girl – dirty knees and all!"

A year later they were engaged and a year after that, in April 1955, they were married in Knowsley, Betty's hometown.

A couple of sparklers! Doug and Betty Appleton with their telegram from the Queen

Celebrations

The couple went on to have four children, Michael, Nigel, Diane and Kathryn and now have seven grandchildren and three great–grandchildren.

Since Betty moved into the home in White Moss Road Doug has been in to visit her every single day... "because she's mine!"

The couple, who attribute their long and happy marriage to a supportive family and having many interests, also received an official telegram from the Queen in recognition of the anniversary milestone.

Doug said: "We would like to say a big thank–you to the home for organising the celebration and to all our family and friends who made our day extra special."

And there are more celebrations in the pipeline for the pair who both have birthdays coming up.

To mark Doug's 90th all the family are travelling up to Carlisle airport where he will fly in a gyrocopter over the rugby field where they met 62 years ago!

Sue King, manager of Stocks Hall, Skelmersdale, said: "It's not every day that a couple celebrate such a significant anniversary and it was fantastic to be part of Doug and Betty's special day and lovely to see how happy they were surrounded by their family and friends."

Data about problems associated with fracking is readily available online

I WRITE in response to Ed Dickinson's letter promoting fracking (April 1).

Mr Dickinson expresses faith in the opinion of engineer Rebecca Lunn (not Lynn, as he stated) that fracking, "if properly regulated poses little environmental risk" and that any problems are caused by poor regulation and construction of the wells.

Where is that mythical country with proper regulation and failsafe construction?

West Lancs residents have successfully fought off several toxic waste tip plans partly on the grounds that regulators have failed to protect us from problems caused by these sites and waste companies do not or cannot make their sites safe.

Why would we trust the fracking industry, with its record of pollution and abandoned sites, to do any better?

In the US, fracking is a byword for severe water shortages as it uses – and pollutes – lots of water. The Nationwide insurance company refuses to cover fracking–related damage because it considers the risks of water contamination and other problems too great.

And New York State banned fracking after hundreds of health professionals and organisations protested that the risks to health and the environment were unacceptable.

Mr Dickinson cites Ms Lunn as saying that "it is not scientifically possible" for fracking to cause earthquakes. That will be news to the editor of OilPrice, who reported last month that "the rise in earthquakes as a result of fracking poses a massive problem for the oil and gas industry."

I wonder if Ms Lunn has backed up her view with hard data and whether she has any financial interest in the fracking industry.

If she had published her views in a scientific journal rather than in the pages of The Times, she would be required to provide data and disclose interests.

The data showing problems from fracking is readily available on the internet. Mr Dickinson should do some research before misleading people with ill–informed views.

Outdated voting system is not fit for purpose

WE shall shortly be called upon to cast our vote at the forthcoming general election on May 7 but, as we sign away our democratic rights with an 'X' – the mark of illiteracy – we may wonder if there's any point when our Victorian voting system habitually wastes two thirds of the votes cast and produces a distorted vote with the remainder.

It is, for example, quite possible that the party with the most votes loses the election!

This has happened before. In 1951, the Labour Party won more votes than the Conservatives, but the Conservatives won the election. In February 1974, the Conservatives won the most votes, but Labour won more seats.

It could happen again in the 2015 election.

Our clapped–out voting system can also produce loads of anomalies. For example, in 2010, UKIP alone polled roughly as many votes as the Greens, Plaid Cymru and the Scottish Nationalists combined, but while these parties won 10 seats in all, UKIP had nothing to show for nearly one million votes.

This is likely to happen again this time and unless they can muster well over 25% of the national poll, the vast majority of UKIP supporters are destined to waste their votes.

I believe that the voting system could malfunction in spectacular fashion on May 7

Urgent action needed in the fight against breast cancer

MORE action is urgently needed to overcome breast cancer.

I have a personal interest in tackling this disease and I think my future MP needs to make it a priority because every year around 18 women in my constituency alone die from secondary breast cancer – which is 12,000 women dying from this disease across the UK annually.

We can't afford not to act.

Breast Cancer Campaign and Breakthrough Breast Cancer have launched their new joint Stop Women Dying campaign to encourage parliamentary candidates to become Breast Cancer Ambassadors, if elected this May.

I want my future MP to become a Breast Cancer Ambassador and help to improve local treatments and services for those affected by the disease in our local area and do more to stop women dying from this disease.

I would encourage others to join me and add their support to the campaign by visiting breastcancercampaign .org/election.

Mrs Catherine Johnston, Ormskirk

Warmer weather has brought increased litter along canal bank

THE combination of a lovely spring evening and the extra hour's daylight prompted my husband and I to walk from our home in Newburgh to Parbold along the canal towpath.

Having walked this route several times during the winter months we were disgusted to now see the amount of newly–dropped litter along the path.

This, together with scores of discarded bottles and cans – both floating freely in the water and those of a more long–standing nature snagged up among the reeds – is an abomination.

Who is guilty? There have been more barges along the stretch in the last few weeks but this prevalence of litter has also coincided with the Easter break and the warmer weather.

Whoever you are – young or old – please take your litter home.

Water birds and other wildlife are starting to breed and there are many wonderful sights to be seen.

None of us want to be distracted by the discardings of a selfish and thoughtless few.

Oh, and while I am having a moan, dog–owners please clean up after your pet and don't give yourself a pat on the back for using a 'poop bag' only to then leave it dangling in a tree!

Why don't they build a place for the bikers to use?

RE: The letter about off–road and quad bike 'menaces' in Skelmersdale (Champion, April 8).

Motocross is a sport and also a great day out and experience.

The downfall around here is that there is nowhere where they are allowed to ride them.

If this is such a big problem, and has been for years, instead of spending money on new 'tactics' aimed at stopping the problem, they should build a place for bikes to go in Skelmersdale, like a few surrounding areas.

Mark Roddaz, by email

Bank staff and customers came to my rescue

I WOULD like, if I may, to use your letters pages to express my most grateful thanks to the customers and staff of the NatWest bank in Ormskirk who came to my aid recently.

I am totally reliant on crutches and unfortunately one of my crutches began to come apart while I was in the bank.

The customers – and one lady in particular – immmediately came to my aid and I was helped to a chair.

Then a member of staff did a temporary fix and this enabled me to get to my car.

Their quick response saved me from a potentially severe accident. Once again, many many thanks.

Sporty mum Amanda is county's new High Sheriff

New High Sheriff of Lancashire, Amanda Parker is sworn into office by Lord Lieutenant Shuttleworth

Report by Danielle Thompson

THE new High Sheriff of Lancashire has been officially sworn in for the year ahead in a special ceremony at County Hall, Preston on Friday (April 10).

Mother–of–two Amanda Parker takes over the historic role, which stretches back to the 10th century, from outgoing High Sheriff, Barry Johnson DL.

The office of High Sheriff is carried out on a voluntary basis and the holder does not receive any salary or expenses.

Amanda said: "I was absolutely delighted and surprised to be chosen as High Sheriff of Lancashire. Being selected for such a historic and traditional role is a great honour and an opportunity for me to make a difference to all Lancastrians."

A keen sports enthusiast, Amanda is treasurer of the Lancashire Hockey Development group and a founder member of the Lancashire Hockey Umpires Association.

She added: "I am particularly interested in sport activities for young people and feel very strongly that everyone should have the opportunity for a good start in life.

"When I get out and about around the county, I intend to raise the profile of the role of High Sheriff and of the many volunteers in the county whose work so often goes unrecognised.

"My first initiative will be to create a website for the High Sheriff of Lancashire and use Facebook and Twitter to highlight and draw attention to organisations and individuals who contribute so much to our county."

Charity's chairman steps down

DISABILITY Advice West Lancs (DAWL), is looking for a new chairman to head its board of trustees, as the current chairman, Dave Roscoe is retiring after 10 years at the helm.

The charity based in Whelmar House, Southway, Skelmersdale is looking for someone to help promote its vision 'To enable people to live the lives that they choose.'

The Queen's Award–winning charity, established in 1981, aims to provide high–quality, confidential information, advice and support to disabled people and their carers in West Lancashire, enabling them to make informed choices about how they wish to live their lives.

Its annual turnover is about £200,000 and has 15 volunteers, nine paid staff and 10 trustees.

Examples of services provided include information and advice about equipment, holidays, budgeting, leisure, mobility, community care, transport, tribunal representation, welfare benefits, form–filling and signposting.

The team deals with more than 6,500 enquiries each year and generates well over a million pounds in welfare benefit income for clients.

Successful candidates would need to be able to help the charity to safeguard its long–term future, ensure the highest possible standards of governance, ensure the proper and efficient conduct of board meetings, support the manager, ensure the board understands and fulfils its responsibility to hold the manager and team to account and empower partnership between the board and management.

Dave Roscoe said: "I have been chairman since 2005 and I'm delighted to see this very special charity grow in terms of skills and capacity. This is not just any team, it's Queen's Award–winning team and I am privileged to be a part of that and many other successes.

"I feel now it's time for me to step aside to give someone else the opportunity to take this charity forward. Above all, it is paramount that we continue to respond to clients' views. I would very strongly encourage anyone who wants to apply and who meets the criteria to do so."

Anyone interested in applying can download an information pack at www.dawl.org.uk or conact the manager, Tony Lewis on 01695 51819 or email tonylewis@dawl.org.uk.

Police commissioner establishes crime victims' hub

LANCASHIRE'S police and crime commissioner, Clive Grunshaw has taken over responsibility for providing services to support victims of crime and established a victims' hub based in Preston.

The move follows changes introduced by government aimed at giving local people more say on the kind of support they need.

Mr Grunshaw has contracted charity Victim Support to provide services to Lancashire residents and has pledged that they will be available to everyone, regardless of the crime suffered or whether or not it has been reported.

He said: "Victim Services will be there when people need them and it is for the individuals themselves to decide what help and support works for them.

"I am confident Victim Support will offer an excellent service and crucially I have asked them to move their staff to Preston – rather than their current Manchester location – to ensure they are solely focussed on Lancashire's residents and their needs. Funding coming directly to Lancashire is a brilliant opportunity to improve what is offered to victims."

Victim Support will make contact with people referred to them through the police but victims will also be able to call the service directly even if they did not report the crime.

There will also be special provision for young victims, victims of hate crime and victims of rape, sexual assault and child sexual exploitation.

More information can be found on website www.Lancashire–pcc.gov.uk. The helpline for victims to contact Victim Support is 0300 323 0085

Edge Hill professor analyses politicians' body language

Professor Geoff Beattie

A PROFESSOR of psychology at Edge Hill University has appeared on national television giving his views on what their body language can tell the public about politicians.

Geoff Beattie, who has been resident on–screen psychologist for 11 series of reality TV show Big Brother, was interviewed on BBC Breakfast before the recent leaders' debate.

Following the debate he wrote in a blog: "So what did we learn that night, apart from the fact that David Cameron lip–licks and frowns when he is stressed, whereas Nicola Sturgeon has a very high blink rate at critical moments, indicating high levels of stress, even when her voice shows little sign of this?

"Or that Ed Milliband shows lots of precision gestures to signal that he has a good grip on economic and other issues, and Nick Clegg displays lots of 'casual' gestures reminiscent of Tony Blair.

"Or that Nigel Farage displays many different facial expressions, especially when he is under attack, or that both Natalie Bennett and Leanne Wood are quite prepared to glance down at their notes, perhaps as a deliberate signal that ideas are more important in the end than appearances, as if content and style can be easily separated in this way.

"Maybe, it was the higher order things that we learned, like the fact that Ed Milliband's over–coached body language looks far too unnatural when it is extended beyond a mere soundbite, and that in real life as the topic changes, we expect to see a different set and pattern of gestures emerging, rather than the mere repetition of the same controlled set of gestures.

"In other words, we want to see non–verbal behaviour that can reveal something rather than being designed and rehearsed to reveal nothing. Only his micro–expressions gave us any glimpse into his personality, character or psychological state.

"We also have a memory and that Nick Clegg returning to the non–verbal style of 2010 looks like a deliberate attempt to recapture something.

"Or, that when it comes to interruption battles between politicians, even between politicians and the chair, Julie Etchingham, Cameron usually comes out on top, and he often overlaps in a very dominant style. But 'dominance' rather than statesman–like 'authority' might not have been what he was hoping to signal.

"But perhaps the most important thing that we learned that night was that the old two–party politics may have gone forever.

"That was why Nicola Sturgeon appeared so effective –clever, flexible, committed, a different vision, a strong woman in a world of domineering men, body language that was more open and itself flexible, and which supported her message rather than being designed to say nothing at all, of any substance."

County's welfare team help residents benefit

THOUSANDS of residents in Lancashire are better off – thanks to the efforts of the county council's welfare rights service staff.

Officials of the service say they have helped people to receive more than £12m in benefits to which they are entitled but which they had previously not claimed for basic living costs such as food and heating.

During the 12 months from April 2014 to March 2015, the Welfare Rights Service actually dealt with more than 2,000 thousand people with various needs.

There are now more people using the service than ever with 30,000 calls last year alone.

Responding to the increased demand, Welfare Rights staff identified residents' needs and carried out the following campaigns:

• Inviting the over–75s for a free and confidential benefits check. This resulted in 400 people being better off by over £1m.

• Raising awareness of pension credits and attendance allowance. This meant that people claimed an extra £145,000 in pension credits and £480,000 in attendance allowance.

• Working closely with Macmillan and cancer nurses to 'fast track' claims for seriously ill people, resulting in payouts of £422,000.

• Helping people with asbestos–related illnesses to claim compensation has led to £570,000 already being received by sufferers.

Joanne Barker, Welfare Rights service manager, said: "We provide free and confidential help and advice with benefit problems for Lancashire residents.

"We help some of our most vulnerable people, sometimes when they are going through an extremely stressful time due to serious illness, to receive the financial support they are entitled to.

"The extra income makes a real difference. Often people have extra expense as a result of their age or medical condition, such as increased heating bills or special food.

"We want to work with other health professionals and their patients in the future to add to the support we already provide and find more ways to reach and help the most vulnerable and needy in Lancashire.

"We receive hundreds of compliments and thank–you letters as well which is so nice. People do really appreciate the help we give them.

"I know some people feel really uncomfortable about asking for help, but we would ask anyone who thinks they could be entitled to contact us."

Tree–pruning alert

THE onset of spring and summer has prompted West Lancs Council to warn residents in the borough to be wary of offers to prune their trees by firms which may not be qualified or insured for the work.

John Harrison, the council's assistant director of planning and development, said: "It is important that contractors carrying out work to trees are properly qualified and insured to do the work and use the correct protective equipment. People should be very wary of using companies or individuals that do not fit into those criteria.

"Residents should also be on their guard against companies that may try to coax them into having work done that may not be needed."

The council is also advising people they would need to apply to the authority for permission to carry out pruning works on trees that are subject to preservation orders. Anyone who lives in a conservation area would need to notify council officers prior to carrying out any pruning works.

For more information on looking after trees on your property, visit the council's website www.westlancs.gov.uk/trees, where you can also find the council's list of approved arboricultural contractors.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Manager Paul Kane feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Crosby, Litherland, Aintree, Maghull, Walton, Anfield, Netherton, Bootle, Formby, Ormskirk and Skelmersdale areas & Paul is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Paul a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Debt charity call for better advice service

Report by Henry James

A DEBT charity is calling on candidates standing to become the MP for West Lancashire to make promoting free debt advice a priority, after it revealed it has received more than 400 calls for help from people with debt problems in the constituency since 2013.

A total of 454 calls for help from people in West Lancashire were received by National Debtline, the free advice service run by charity the Money Advice Trust, during 2013 and 2014.

In addition, the charity's Business Debtline service, which advises the self–employed and other small business owners, received 40 calls from businesses in the constituency last year.

The charity has said with research showing that only 17% of people with unmanageable debt in the UK seek advice, the need for debt help in West Lancashire is likely to be far higher than these figures suggest.

The Money Advice Trust says that higher awareness of free debt advice in and around West Lancashire could, "mean the difference between financial recovery and financial disaster" for thousands of people.

After contacting National Debtline, 82% of people say they feel more in control and knowledgeable in managing their money.

MPs are often contacted by constituents about unmanageable debt, including problems with credit cards, personal loans, mortgage debts, payday loans, council tax arrears, rent arrears bailiffs and county court judgments (CCJs).

As well as signposting these constituents to seek advice from charity–run services such as National Debtline and Business Debtline, many MPs take a pro–active role in promoting debt advice charities in their communities.

Joanna Elson OBE, chief executive of the Money Advice Trust, the charity that runs National Debtline and Business Debtline, said:

Joanna Elson OBE, chief executive of the Money Advice Trust Code NA

"Whoever is elected as Member of Parliament for West Lancashire on May 7 needs to put promoting free debt advice in the area near the top of their to–do list after the General Election.

"While National Debtline has given more than 400 advice sessions to people in West Lancashire in the last two years, we know that potentially thousands more are suffering in silence.

"MPs can play a crucial role in the fight against problem debt – not only by directing people who come to them for help to the free advice they need, but also through raising awareness of services such as National Debtline in the local community.

"Our message to anyone in West Lancashire who is struggling to cope with problem debt is simple: seek free advice from a debt charity such as National Debtline as soon as possible.

Residents are being urged to install carbon monoxide detectors in their homes Code NA

Warning over dangerous carbon monoxide leaks

Report by Danielle Thompson

HOMEOWNERS across West Lancashire are being urged to be on their guard against rogue tradesmen installing dangerous heating systems.

Figures from the Office for National Statistics show that 40 people die every year as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning and a further 200 are hospitalised.

All types of boilers can emit the colourless, odourless gas and households in the region could be more at risk from poisoning if they use unqualified, cowboy installers.

Carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning can lead to serious long term health problems and even death, and victims are often completely unaware of the cause. The main symptoms to look out for are tiredness, dizziness and prolonged headaches.

Malcolm Farrow, of OFTEC, said: "Every year hundreds of people across Lancashire put themselves at risk of CO poisoning by using non–qualified technicians to service their boilers. As households seek to cut back on costs we are concerned that more and more vulnerable people will be put at risk. If you suspect that you have been a victim of a 'cowboy installer' then get in touch."

To report any suspected dangerous installations visit www.oftec.org.uk.

Generosity meant I was not left high and dry on my hols

IF I had been writing this as a news story told by someone else it would be all about 'A Holiday From Hell!', a tale of mistakes and broken promises, topped off by atrocious weather.

Demands for financial compensation would figure high.

Happily though I am writing this about my holiday in Norfolk – and although all the above ingredients were present (plus one or two more minor niggles) I can honestly say that once over initial shocks I thoroughly enjoyed myself.

Yes, I've just returned from one of my unintentionally long cruises on my boat 'Manxman.'

As you may have guessed, the holiday did not start out quite as planned.

In a telephone conversation about 10 days before I set off, the owner of the boatyard which was revarnishing 'Manxman's topsides and touching up her paintwork, assured me she would be back in her usual berth in plenty of time for my arrival.

She wasn't.

A visit to his premises found my treasured craft high and dry with work still in progress. The genuinely upset proprietor smacked his forehead and admitted I had said that date – but somehow he had got it into his head it was the following week.

But he promised to get every available person onto the job and get her back into the water the next day. And since I now was marooned with nowhere to lay my (or my dogs') head for the night, he paid for bed and breakfast for us in a nearby country hotel.

Which was nice.

And, because 'Manxman' was still land–borne the following lunchtime, then bought me (though not the dogs) a steak dinner at the same hotel.

But fate hadn't yet finished with us. The boat was back in the water at 6.30pm, but because she is wooden and had been in the dry of his shed for three weeks, she leaked like the proverbial.

Keeping her 'on slings' supported if necessary by his crane, and with the aid of his electric pump, saw me for my first night more or less afloat – and in the morning the seams had taken up and I was on my way. Not all that far though. I overnighted at a charming place called Ludham Bridge, with the intention of passing beneath said bridge first thing.

Except that come morning I discovered the mast had been fitted with some kind of power tool to affix the nut and bolt securing it in an upright position. And no amount of effort could unfix it to lower it and get under the bridge.

So it was back upriver with my new complaint – and after 15 minutes or so with a couple of wrenches the nut was again finger tight and my voyages proper started.

Now the calendar might say it is spring, but for the first week or more it was cold (the decks were actually icy one morning), wet and very, very windy.

But with the benefit of my trusty diesel–powered hot air Webasto heating unit things were quite cosy – until the blasted thing refused to ignite! I still had the dubious benefit of the original gas radiant heater and some good advice (which cost me all of one cigarette) got it going again a few days later.

But 'Holiday From Hell'? Not on your nelly.

I learned how generous (and honest) people can be. And apart from moments of intense worry I really did enjoy myself.

It was a good steak too!

Care home residents enjoy their own Ladies Day treat!

RESIDENTS of the Hillcroft residential and dementia care home in Aughton couldn't make it to Aintree for Ladies Day on Friday (April 10) but they enjoyed their own special day with a champagne breakfast!

Mayor of West Lancashire, Councillor Doreen Stephenson, joined residents from the home in Long Lane, plus guests, at The Court Leet Wetherspoons pub in Ormskirk for a traditional English breakfast, followed by tea and coffees and a celebratory glass of Buck's Fizz!

Staff at the home launched an initiative last summer to invite members of the public who are lonely to join them on day trips and at activities at the home to help them to feel more involved in the wider community. As part of this initiative, three members of Age UK Ormskirk also joined the group for their Champagne breakfast.

Hillcroft events co–ordinator, Lesley Malone, told the Champion: "Six of our ladies, Nora, Eleanor, June, Agnes, Edwina and Doreen and one gentleman Frank, from Hillcoft, enjoyed a Champagne breakfast to celebrate Ladies Day at Aintree.

"Lots of people at the pub commented on how nice it was seeing elderly people still celebrating this great event and how very elegant they all looked with their matching hair fascinators, plus Frank dressed up in his smartest suit and tie!"

Representatives of interested parties who met to discuss parking issues in Appley Bridge.

Meeting held to tackle village parking problems

REPRESENTATIVES of Lancashire Constabulary, Lancashire County Council, Network Rail, National Rail and local landowners have met with residents and prospective Labour party parliamentary candidate for West Lancashire, Rosie Cooper to address parking and traffic concerns in Appley Bridge.

Residents say that commuters using Appley Bridge railway station to travel to Manchester create a problem by blocking the neighbouring streets making it difficult for them to get into and out of their drives.

Appley Bridge sits on the boundary of the Lancashire County Council and Transport for Greater Manchester transport authorities and the different subsidies means it is cheaper for passengers travelling to Manchester to use the station rather than going from nearby Parbold.

This results in a higher volume of commuters and subsquently more vehicles being parked in the vicinity from early morning until early evening.

A number of potential solutions including parking restrictions, charges and alternative parking areas were discussed at the meeting.

Rosie Cooper said: "The situation is a mess. It is encouraging that so many are travelling on the trains but we need to find a way to solve the problem with the lack of parking. Appley Lane North residents and business owners are having to live with the consequences and it can't continue.

"Bringing all the interested parties together we have now begun the process of finding a solution that works for everyone.

"Each agency will now look into their own areas, including the potential for housing a car park on nearby private land, jointly managed by some of the agencies."

Archery club open day

BURSCOUGH Archery Club hold their annual open day for members of the public on Saturday (April 18) from 11am to 4pm at the club headquarters, Asmall House Livery Yard, Asmall Lane, Ormskirk .

Club chairman, Kevin Green, said: "The day is free and is a chance to try your hand at archery, a great sport that can be enjoyed by all the family from eight to 80! Club members will be on hand to offer advice about how to get involved if you're interested. And it's under cover – so bad weather is no excuse, come along and release your inner Robin Hood."

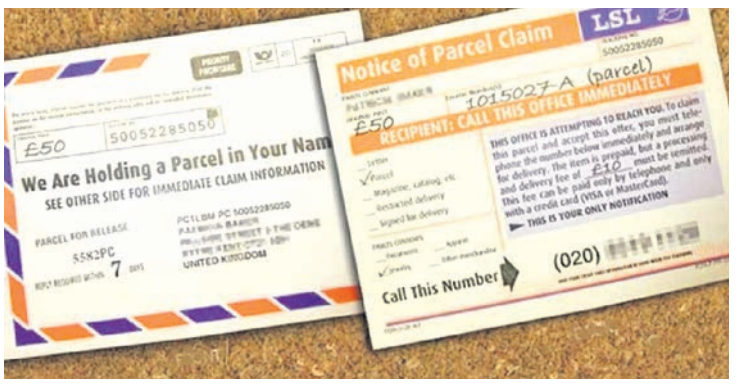
Fraud centre issues parcel scam alert



Copies of the scam postcard

WEST Lancashire residents are being urged to be on their guard against a bogus parcel/postcard scam.

The national fraud and internet crime reporting centre, Action Fraud UK, have published an alert warning people about personally–addressed, official–looking postcards that claim that a parcel is being held for the recipient.

The front of the cards states: 'We are holding a parcel in your name' and the back states: 'This office is attempting to reach you' and includes instructions for claiming 'your' parcel.

However, the cards are not legitimate parcel notifications.

The bogus postcards claim that to receive the parcel you must pay a £10 processing and delivery fee by credit card and adds that payment can only be paid via telephone to a number listed on the card.

The message adds that the postcard will be your only notification.

Callers to the number listed are then asked to pay an immediate fee of £10 by credit card. After paying the fee they are informed that the parcel will be delivered on the same day.

However, no parcel is ever delivered.

In some instances the 'parcel' is said to contain jewellery but this may vary.

Anyone receiving one of these postcards is advised not to call the number or pay any fee requested.

If you receive one of these cards you can report it to Action Fraud by calling 0300 123 2040 or by filling out their online form.

If residents receive a card containing a premium rate phone number and they are unsure about its legitimacy, they can check the number via the PhonepayPlus website and or call them on 0800 500 212.

If you have supplied your credit card details as a result of this scam you should contact your bank or credit card provider and report the matter immediately.

Chloe's big Challenge

Chloe Hodgson (centre with balloon) and colleagues at one of their fundraising events

Report by Danielle Thompson

A BANK employee from Ormskirk is set to take part in a national competition to find the best apprentice team in the country.

Chloe Hodgson, from Stanley Street, is a member of an eight–strong team made up of colleagues from across the North West who work together at Barclays Technology Centre in Knutsford.

Having made it to the regional heats of the Brathay Apprentice Challenge 2015, the Barclays team will be one of 80 competing for the Apprentice Team of the Year award.

The top eight teams will go forward to the national finals with the winners revealed in July.

The competition involves mentoring local young people, fundraising for charity and completing a community project.

Experiences

Chloe's team have been working with Prince's Trust members in a mentoring scheme, giving them interview and CV advice and work experience.

They have also raised £3,000 so far for the Teenage Cancer Trust through fundraisers including a 12–hour bike ride, cake sale, raffle, bucket collections and head shaves.

And for their community project they will be refurbishing rooms at Mid Cheshire College in Northwich.

Chloe has worked for Barclays for the last three years and began her apprenticeship nine months ago. Previous to this she worked in the Liverpool Lord Street branch as a cashier.

The 21–year–old said: "We are currently in the regional heats stage of the Challenge which will test us on our team–building, logistical, leadership and community skills.

"Our team members range from 16 to 24 years old and we have all come from completely different backgrounds. We signed up for the Challenge because we all feel that apprenticeships are not currently being taken seriously enough as a career path and a lot of people just aren't educated about apprenticeships.

"Since starting the Challenge we have reached out to numerous schools and colleges in our area and done talks about our experiences. We have attended careers fairs to promote apprenticeships and recently hosted one on our site in Knutsford which attracted more than 500 visitors. We also took part in events that involved speaking to small businesses to encourage them to take on more apprentices."

Chance to enter Mere's annual duck race

FANCY a quacking day out?

Then why not waddle along to WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre in Burscough to take part in the annual duck race.

The event is taking place all this week and you can paint, personalise and design your own plastic duck to enter into the race which will take place this Sunday (April 19) at 3pm.

Ducks can be painted at the centre any day this week between 1pm to 4pm, or people can buy unpainted ducks to enter the race on race day.

Nick Brooks, centre manager at WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre said: "We are delighted that the duck race is taking place at Martin Mere once again this year.

"Last year was an incredible event for the centre and we hope that this year will be even better.

"Last year there was nearly 200 ducks taking part in the race with a great variety of colours and designs on show. There was much drama in last year's event with one duck streaming into the lead, only to drift into a ditch and trapping five others to allow a duck to sail from behind into an uncatchable lead."

Residents called on to help mark VE Day

THE Royal British Legion is calling on residents to help them mark the 70th anniversary of Victory in Europe Day (VE Day) with a weekend of celebrations from May 8–10. Communities are being asked to join together and place the Second World War generation at the heart of the party.

Community celebrations will reflect the national events taking place in London where Second World War veterans are invited to attend as the nation's VIPs.

On Sunday, May 10, there will a Service of Thanksgiving at Westminster Abbey, followed by a parade from the Abbey to Horse Guards Parade and into St James's Park, where the Legion will host a lunch reception for the veterans.

WIN! Tickets to see Lord of the Dance

LORD of the Dance is heading to the Liverpool Empire.

And the Champion has five pairs of tickets up for grabs to see the spectacular show.

Morgan Comer is the Lord of the Dance and he explained what audiences can expect: "We have lights, explosives and fire! There is a little bit of everything to get the audience captivated.

"People who have not seen the show before are amazed how fast the dancers' footwork is."

Michael Flatley's Lord of the Dance: Dangerous Games is currently on a UK tour and has standing ovations every night.

Morgan's character is the good guy who falls in love with the good girl. The bad girl tries to tempt the good guy away and a war erupts between good and evil.

The 25–year–old believes the Lord of the Dance shows have been popular around the world as the story is told through dance, so there is no language barrier.

Michael Flatley is not in the Liverpool production, but Morgan, who has been it for three years and has been doing the lead role for two years, said: "Michael works with all the leads and dancers in his shows. He promotes new people coming through and is still in the background."

The production also stars Formby dancer Jennifer Murray who told the Champion her role is a 'dream come true.'

Jennifer is a troop dancer in the show and said: "I auditioned twice for this production and always wanted to be in it. It is a dream come true for me as I have grown up dancing.

"I was in the show for the two months it was at the London Palladium. Michael Flatley appeared in that production and it was a brilliant experience. I have also gone to France, Germany and Israel with it.

Morgan Comer as the Lord of the Dance in Dangerous Games. Pic by Brian Doherty

"I have never performed at the Liverpool Empire before and I am really excited as people I know are coming to Liverpool to see me."

The 24–year–old trained at The Academy in Birmingham

Lord of the Dance: Dangerous Games will be at the Liverpool Empire from Tuesday, April 28 to Saturday, May 2.

The Champion has five pairs of tickets to give away for the show. To be in with a chance of winning the competition, answer the following question.

Q: Who plays Lord of the Dance in the Liverpool Empire production?

Answers by email to: henry.james@champnews.com by Friday, April 24 at 12pm.

Winners will be the first five emails drawn at random after the closing date. Usual Champion rules apply.

Stage adaptations of literary classics coming to Arts Centre

STAGE adaptations of two literary classics – Mrs Dalloway and The Picture of Dorian Gray – will visit The Arts Centre at Edge Hill University this month.

European Arts Company bring an adaptation of Oscar Wilde's only novel to The Arts Centre on April 21, celebrating the 125th anniversary of its publication.

Adapted by Wilde's grandson Merlin Holland and John O'Connor, The Picture of Dorian Gray is set in the decadent world of Victorian London. A beautiful, narcissistic young man becomes infatuated by the exquisite portrait that Basil Hallward has painted of him. He makes a Faustian pact that he will remain forever young while the picture grows old.

Combining drawing–room comedy and gothic horror, this is show which emphasises Wilde's talent.

The production features a cast from stage and screen, including: Guy Warren–Thomas as Dorian Gray (Spooks The Greater Good, Downton Abbey), Gwynfor Jones as Lord Henry (The Woman In Black in the West End) and is directed by Peter Craze (Doctor Who, Blake's Seven).

On April 23, Dyad Productions, the creators of The Unremarkable Death of Marilyn Monroe, Female Gothic, I, Elizabeth, The Diaries of Adam and Eve and Austen's Women bring their latest production Dalloway to Ormskirk.

1923: The War is over. While Clarissa Dalloway prepares a party in Westminster, Septimus Smith is diagnosed with shell–shock, and their memories and dreams intertwine with those of 15 other disparate souls, this hot blue day in June. Conjuring the hopes and regrets of middle– and upper–class London, this adaptation of Virginia Woolf's celebrated map of hearts, minds and memories offers a feminine response to the aftermath of the First World War.

This stage adaptation of Virginia Woolf's classic novel Mrs Dalloway garnered five–star reviews at Edinburgh Festival 2014. Dalloway is adapted and directed by Elton Townend Jones and performed by Rebecca Vaughan.

There was 'a talented cast' in this re–telling of children's fairy tale

• The Wiz
• The Atkinson

The Wiz is a re–telling of the well–loved children's fairy tale, The Wizard of Oz through the music and language of black America and, it has to be said, the youngsters of SONG performed it brilliantly, writes Ron Ellis

The dancing, choreographed by Jenny Birch, was step–perfect and the musical backing, with its fusions of gospel, R & B and swing, rocked along under the direction of Sarah Nicholson.

During Brand New Day, it might have been Aretha Franklin's band with a gospel choir while Ease on Down the Road (once a yellow brick thoroughfare) had the audience clapping along.

Layla Carlin sang delightfully as Dorothy; Charlie McMullan, looking suddenly grown up, was a splendid Scarecrow; Jamie Lonsdale was head and shoulders a Tin Man and Lucas Frost's leonine qualities stood out beneath his furry headdress.

Helena McCormack might have come out of the pages of Hello! as the pouty witch, Adderperle; and Shannon Weekes screeched convincingly as the bad witch, Evillene. One of the highspots of the show was when she was tipped into the yawning depths of an armchair. Isabella Knowler was enchanting as good witch, Glinda.

And The Wiz himself, who turned out be be a 'good ol' onery guy', was played with style by Matthew Higginson.

The Wiz was never as entertaining a musical as The Wizard of Oz and there was a distinct lack of colour and variety in the set, but for sheer exuberance and vitality shown by a talented cast, this was a fun show for which director, Sian Woolley, deserves every credit.
7 out of 10. A talented cast.

Pick your favourite Celebrity God to appear at theatre

AS Monty Python's Spamalot returns to Liverpool Empire from May 11–16, King Arthur and his Knights Of The Round Table will give fans the chance to choose which of the Spamalot Celebrity Charity Gods will appear at the theatre.

The six God's–to–be, Brian May, Eric Idle, Michael Palin, Professor Brian Cox, Michael Ball and Hugh Bonneville will shine from the heavens in the role of God, all to help their chosen charity, which include Headley Court Rehabilitation Centre, The Make A Wish Foundation, Great Ormond Street Hospital, Scene & Heard, Stage for Age and Keats Community Library.

Fans can vote for their favourite celebrity to play God by simply going to the official Spamalot website at www.spamalotontour.co.uk and clicking on 'Vote for God' before choosing their favourite.

The celebrity with the most votes will go on to play God.

Spamalot's Celebrity God will be beamed from the 'heavens' above centre stage during each performance of Spamalot, while King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table search for their Quest and God appears to explain that they must find The Holy Grail.

Back for the second time around as part of the Spamalot 2015 UK tour, Downton Abbey star Hugh Bonneville said: "I wanted to play God in Spamalot in order to support Scene & Heard, a charity which gives young people living in challenging circumstances the opportunity to work with arts professionals and create theatre scripted entirely by the children.

"I'm also delighted to be involved with the show."

Prepare to be amazed by illusionist Jamie Allan

JAMIE Allan has been described as one of the greatest innovators of modern magic and has devised illusions that have stunned and amazed audiences across the globe.

With recent television appearances on, ITV's Get Your Act Together, The Alan Titchmarsh Show BBC's The One Show, BBC Breakfast and CBBC's The Slammer, Jamie's illusions have baffled and entertained TV audiences and made him a firm family favourite.

Jamie Allan's latest stage extravaganza is a journey through the greatest illusions of all time performed with a twist, sleight of hand, "precision" timing and "mind–blowing" technology.

iMagician: The evolution of Magic, delves into the work of history's greatest illusionists and explores how they would perform their magic today using modern technological advances.

From the classic Sawing the lady in half, this time performed with transparency and using a high powered industrial cutting laser to increase the danger and spectacle, to the iPad illusion, Digital Art. It is planned that he will also be doing a trick with a copy of The Champion.

This is the only show where the audience is invited to keep their mobiles on for the duration of the performance, allowing full interaction with Jamie through Facebook.

iMagician is claimed to be the most advanced stage magic show in the world today. Described as Houdini of the 21st Century, Jamie will take the audience through two hours of illusions, enhanced by laser beams, sleight of hand and interactive technology.

iMagician will be at Southport Theatre this Saturday (April 18).

Team Leader - West Lancs Area

£24,000 per year

Alternative Futures Group provides support for people with learning disabilities, physical disabilities and /or mental health challenges. We focus on providing high quality, cost effective, person-centred support to deliver the right outcomes for the people we support. This enables them to be in control of their own lives and achieve their individual hopes and aspirations.

Visit our website to find out more about us
www.AlternativeFuturesGroup.org.uk

- Are you looking for a fresh challenge?
- Do you want to join a great team and an organisation that supports you well?

We are currently looking to recruit a Team Leader within the West Lancs area. The successful candidate will lead a team of dedicated and hard working support workers. In addition, the role will include developing the ways in which the team delivers person centred support.

As a team leader you will be responsible for managing resources and helping the team to be all that they can be. You will work with the team to develop their skills and knowledge through coaching and regular supervision and appraisals. Alternative Futures Group supports people to meet their desired outcomes; therefore, ensuring the delivery of high-quality support that meets individual needs is a key part of the role.

We are looking for someone who is passionate about making a difference and, ideally, has experience of leading or managing a team. We want to hear from people who are enthusiastic and solution-focused; who can work as part of a team but also using their own initiative.

IN MEMORIAM

Fashoni Colin
19th April 2014

The shape of a cloud that forms in the sky,
The breeze that blows on your face,
The kiss on your cheek from a butterfly is something quite hard to erase,
The sound of a bird tries to make itself heard,
The one perching high in a tree,
will always be saying you're never alone,
For around me you will always be.

Ford's clever gadget is deserving of the boot

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

TYPICAL. Only a week after one manufacturer teases us with a reason to get rid of all the gimmicks in the nation's new cars, another gives you something entirely sensible I'm surprised wasn't invented decades ago.

Ford has clearly been listening to people like my sister – parents who happen to use the C–Max in their tireless quest to ferry their offspring and all the associated clobber to school and back.

A trick Ford has already tried on its Kuga off–roader is now being applied to a small MPV clearly aimed at young families – a boot release you can operate with your foot!

I genuinely don't know why more manufacturers aren't offering this sort of thing, seeing as you don't need to be someone raising a brace of snotty toddlers to appreciate it. While cars with boots that open electrically aren't anything new, they tend to be pricey optional extras and they're only as good as the wires behind them. This is a much simpler premise – using your foot to do a job your hand can't.

Anyone who's ever made the mistake of manhandling a flat pack shelf through IKEA's car park on a busy Saturday afternoon and then wished they could sprout a third arm to operate the boot release will know exactly what I mean.

You're able to somehow operate the remote central locking, but using either of your hands to physically open the boot is going to risk dropping the entire shelf and damaging it.

In the past elbows, knees or even noses have been forced to act as impromptu substitute hands to end the misery and get the boot of whichever MPV or estate car I'm using open, but while it's only an occasional bit of IKEA–based suffering for me I feel for the thousands of mums and dads who have to put up with this inherent car design weakness every time they go on a family outing.

That's why Ford – and indeed – any other manufacturer who's got a similar system on the cards – should be applauded for reasons their customers do not have three arms.

Without wanting to sound like a political party broadcast, no family in this country should have to put up with fumbling around on a rainy Thursday night with an armful of shopping and Fisher Price toys and an audience of two screaming toddlers while they fumble around attempting to get the boot of their brand new car open.

I know most car gadgets solve problems that don't really exist – that's you, power steering and lane departure warning systems – but once in a while someone comes up with something genuinely clever.

Foot–operated boots are in the latter category. I'm sure the nation's mums and dads will agree.

Rav4 gets eco–friendly makeover

Toyota will turn its RAV4 off roader into a hybrid next year. Code NA

TOYOTA'S RAV4 will be transformed into an eco–friendly hybrid car when the new model goes on sale early next year, the manufacturer has confirmed.

The company's smallest off–roader will still be a 4x4, but will use a 2.5–litre petrol engine to power the front wheels and an electric motor to propel the back ones.

It goes on sale in the USA in December, and prices and more details of the British version will be announced ahead of its arrival in Europe next year.

IAM issue M'way breakdown tips

Six out of ten deaths involve stationary vehicles on the road side

By Ollie Cowan

THIS WEEK, the Institute of Advanced Motorists' chief examiner, Peter Rodger, is advising drivers on how to handle a breakdown on the motorway.

Six out of ten deaths on motorways involve a stationary vehicle so breaking down is a very high risk. Here are Peter's even tips to guide you through the process.

Always be prepared – keep a high visibility jacket, something waterproof and a charged mobile phone in your vehicle.

Don't press on if you feel your car has a problem; pull over onto the hard shoulder and park as far left as possible to avoid slowing down traffic behind you.

Always turn on your hazard warning lights to let other road users know you are slowing down and pulling over.

Never attempt to repair the problem yourself. Ideally, call motorway control using a roadside phone and then contact your breakdown company.

You should always call for help using an emergency roadside telephone. The distance to the nearest phone is marked on a sign on the hard shoulder.

Never cross the carriageway to get to a phone on the other side. The operator will have already picked up your location if you use this phone.

Make sure you and any passengers leave your vehicle by the left–hand door – never wait inside the vehicle until help arrives. Stay behind a barrier or up the embankment. If you feel threatened leave the nearside door open.

SMART motorways use the hard shoulder as an extra lane to give you more capacity on the motorway. If your car develops a problem on this type of motorway, leave at the next exit, or pull into a motorway service area. If you would like further advice on how to cope with a breakdown on a SMART motorway please refer to page nine of the Highways England driver booklet.

Peter said: "Breakdowns sometimes cannot be avoided, but the effect of them can be made as painless as possible. If you prepare for every eventuality, you can avoid the experience becoming too inconvenient and be on your way before too long."

Keedy and Parry among new faces as cup gets cricket season under way

THE 2015 Liverpool & District Cricket Competition gets under way at 1pm this Saturday, with all our nine local sides in action in the first and second rounds of the Ray Digman Trophy.

Formby are boosted by several new faces including Stephen Parry, Gary Keedy, Alex Lines, Dane Williams and Australian Patrick Pisel and are still led by the experienced Ian Cockbain.

They travel to play a Northern side at Moor Park in the first round with the home team including new signings John Dotters, Ian Carrol and Liam Grey who've all been added to James Cole's squad over the winter.

Burscough, led by Rob Glaysher travel to Rainford who should include former Burscough youngster Danny Houghton in their line–up.

The visitors have since been boosted by the signings of Navdeep Aujla from Brisbane, Gary Lee and Joe Fernando.

In the second round, Ainsdale, led by new skipper Andy Barlow host a Maghull side still led by Greg Gillespie which includes the returning duo Liam Crilly and John Murphy.

Fleetwood Hesketh's new skipper Derek Sykes welcomes Colwyn Bay to Sea Cop.

Hightown St Mary's, led by Jonny Walsh, welcome Parkfield Liscard.

Ormskirk, led by their new captain Matty Glayzer, host Newton le Willows.

Southport & Birkdale travel to Wigan.

'We need more backing from town's big firms'

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

SKELMERSDALE United chairman Paul Griffiths has stated his dismay at the response of the 'bigger companies' around the toen to the club's plea for support.

He told the Champion: "I personally have written to over 100 of the bigger businesses around Skelmersdale and the reaction I am getting is generally speaking very negative."

He added: "When I returned to chair the club back in February, we were in quite a perilous financial position caused mainly because we are not getting support from the business community and thanks to the hard work and generosity of many around the club we have managed that situation and the future of the club is secure again.

"However, if we are to maintain the level at which the club is playing and to move it on to a higher level we need to bring more money into the club.

"Skelmersdale United has grown into a big asset for the town and where we now are in the football pyramid we are promoting the town itself and everyone benefits, not just the football club. We are seeking to get Skelmersdale based businesses to join us.

Paul Griffiths

"In return for sponsorship we are offering a whole range of schemes that promote the company providing the sponsorship. One of the main schemes we are offering is the naming rights to the ground (Stormy Corner).

"The name of the ground is included in all match reports, in many newspaper reports, on radio interviews and when radio stations mention the club, even in the score on match days, plus the many associated football publications and websites.

"Essentially it puts the name of the ground in the public eye and tells people that the specific company named is in Skelmersdale and linked to the successful football club in the town."

"The problem we are having is that although smaller businesses around the town are giving the club some magnificent support, the bigger companies who can provide the bigger sums are not and it will create budgeting problems and limit spending for next season.

"I just hope that a bigger sponsor will come on board, if we are to continue and maintain promoting Skelmersdale in the positive way we have, we do need help"

Companies intersted in sponsoring the club should contact Paul Grifiths or vice–chairman Norman Fenney on 07513 123164 or 01695 575958.

Cup final brings hope of silverware

SKELMERSDALE have two remaining home games this season and one could see them picking up some silverware.

This Saturday sees the Liverpool County FA Senior Cup Final take place at Stormy Corner, when Skelmersdale United will entertain North West Counties League side AFC Liverpool, kick off 3pm.

The club has reduced admission prices for the match as "a gesture of thanks to fans for their support over the season."

Adults will be charged £6, concessions £3, while children will be able to watch the final free of charge.

The trophy will be presented on the day and manager Tommy Lawson is hopeful that he will be able to field a strong team.

Defender Rob Bodie will miss the match serving a suspension after his rather controversial sending off at Ilkeston, when the referee judged a tackle to be dangerous.

Another player missing will be winger Ben Tollitt who has already played in the competition this season for Widnes Vikings, so is cup–tied. Tollitt also missed the 5–0 semi–final victory against Southport at Haig Avenue, so a repeat of centre forward Dan Mitchley's hat–trick would please Skem supporters.

On Saturday, Apri 25, Skelmersdale host Stourbridge in their final league match of the season.

Toner on song with a late leveller for Linnets

Ossett Town 2
Burscough 2

BURSCOUGH were without captain, Paul Williams, as he suffered an injury in the warm–up meaning they were reduced to two men on the bench.

Replacement captain Eddie Toner won the toss and with a strong wind blowing down the 4G Data Stadium pitch he was quick to turn the sides round.

The home side who took the lead when Sam Akeroyd sent over a free–kick that was spilt by Hare in goal and Karl Exton challenged and forced the ball home from close range.

With the wind behind them, Burscough took to the attack, and just four minutes after the opener they won a penalty kick, when a Linnets forward was bundled over.

Linnets captain Toner stepped up and although his kick was well saved by Brad Dixon, it was Toner who acted quickest to fire the ball home.

The visitors had the better of the remainder of the half, Dixon making a couple of saves but the home side looked dangerous on the counter.

The blustery conditions meant football was difficult to play, and the game was very stop start too.

Ossett claimed for a penalty as Payne was went down in the area but the referee awarded a free–kick the Linnets. As the hour passed the home side did get a penalty, when an Ossett player was pulled down as he approached goal and the spot kick was dispatched by Sam Akeroyd.

Burscough pressed for an equaliser, but Ossett goalkeeper Brad Dixon was in good form and his efforts included a spectacular save from a well struck free–kick.

The referee added five minutes at the end of the game and two minutes into it Toner struck a bouncing ball from distance and a combination of swerve and wind gave Dixon no chance.

Burscough host Salford City on Saturday.
